CSI Learning and Libations: PPG Color Presentation with Susan Williams

Greetings!

On Thursday, September 19th, Susan Williams of PPG will discuss the 2020 Global Color and Design Forecast. The forecast is researched and identified by PPG's international team of color experts and specialists. The presentation unravels the moods, mindsets, and design direction we see trending throughout geographies and segments. The overarching title this year is FLOW, an energy between structures, systems, and perceptions. It is time to get out of the polarity paradigm and get in the flow of life, favoring integration and accepting differences as complements. PPG welcomes you to experience FLOW.
